

ASSOCIATE MENTAL HEALTH COUNSELOR PROVISIONAL LICENSE

Frequently Asked Questions

1) What is the difference between a Mental Health Counselor License and an Associate Mental Health Counselor Provisional License?

Individuals with a Hawaii Mental Health Counselor License may practice mental health counseling independently without clinical supervision.

Individuals with an Associate Mental Health Counseling Provisional License may practice mental health counseling only under the clinical supervision of a Hawaii-licensed clinical supervisor while completing the post-graduate experience requirements for full licensure.

2) Do all Mental Health Counseling post-graduates need a Hawaii provisional license?

If you are practicing mental health counseling in Hawaii while completing your post-graduate experience requirements, you must obtain an Associate Mental Health Counselor Provisional License.

3) What are the requirements to become provisionally licensed as an Associate Mental Health Counselor in Hawaii?

Please be advised that the approval of a provisional license as an Associate Mental Health Counselor does not constitute or guarantee eligibility for full licensure as a Mental Health Counselor. Applicants are responsible for reviewing all applicable licensure requirements and ensuring full compliance with all statutory regulation.

- a. Education: A master's or doctoral degree from an accredited educational institution in counseling or in an allied field related to the practice of mental health counseling.

Note: The Mental Health Counselor License contains additional education requirements for full licensure. Please refer to the Mental Health Counselor License Forms for more details.

- b. Practicum: The master's or doctoral degree includes, or is supplemented by, at least two academic terms of supervised mental health practicum intern experience for graduate credit of at least six semester hours or ten quarter hours in a mental health counseling setting, with a total of 300 hours of supervised client contact. The practicum experience was completed under the clinical supervision of a clinical supervisor who was licensed as a mental health counselor, psychologist, clinical social worker, APRN with a specialty in mental health, marriage and family therapist, or psychiatrist during the entire supervised period.
- c. Post-Graduate Experience: Obtain a supervisor who is licensed in Hawaii and in good standing as a mental health counselor, psychologist, clinical social worker, APRN with a specialty in mental health, marriage and family therapist, or psychiatrist. You can only engage in the practice of mental health counseling under the clinical supervision of a licensed clinical supervisor to fulfill the post-graduate experience requirements.

You can verify a supervisor's licensure by using the Public License Search feature on PVL's website.

See the Associate Mental Health Counselor Provisional License Forms for detailed instructions.

12) Are there continuing education (CE) requirements for provisional licensure renewal?

No, continuing education is not required to renew the Associate Mental Health Counselor Provisional License.

13) I am licensed in another state. Can I transfer my license to Hawaii? Is there reciprocity?

Currently, Hawaii does not have a mental health counselor reciprocity agreement with any state. Individuals licensed in another state must apply for Hawaii licensure and demonstrate that they meet Hawaii’s licensure requirements.

14) What if I am in the midst of completing my post-graduate experience requirements? Will the hours I have already accrued count towards provisional licensure?

Any post-graduate experience obtained under supervision prior to the provisional licensure requirement effective date of July 1, 2026, will count towards provisional licensure requirements, so long as they meet the requirements for clinical supervision.

15) What if I am accruing my post-graduate hours outside of Hawaii? Do I need to be provisionally licensed in Hawaii before I can be fully licensed as a Mental Health Counselor?

Provided that you meet all requirements for full licensure as a Mental Health Counselor, post-graduate experience obtained outside of Hawaii is acceptable.

Post-graduates obtaining experience outside of Hawaii are not required to obtain provisional licensure.
